Dear Eileen, I'm afraid I can't write quite so often now as these forms are limited - actually though there seems little for one to write about - it's even less inspiring than the desert! We manage reasonably well for food and we are fairly comfortable, but you can imagine all our thoughts are of what we intend to do when the war is over. I like even more the idea of a small boat - even a camping holiday in Devon.
This is my second letter to you so far. So long & much love, Leslie
