THE WHITE ARMLET.

In order to prevent risk of injury to disabled men, the Ministry of Pensions asks the public to remember that the wearing of a white armlet on the left arm signifies that the wearer has been fitted with an artificial limb, and is unable to move quickly. It is requested that men wearing this armlet should receive the consideration due to them in view of their services and disablement in the war.