VISIT OF WOUNDED INDIANS.

Residents’ Splendid Reception.

On two occasions during the past week the town was visited by a party of wounded Indians who are now being treated at the Military Hospital at Brighton, and on each day they received a warm welcome from the inhabitants. On Wednesday afternoon there were about twenty of them conveyed by motor, and they spent nearly an hour enjoying a walk along the Promenade.

They were greeted by passers-by, and gifts of cigarettes and chocolate were freely made. Autographs were in great demand of the Indian soldiers, who seemed delighted to comply with the requests made.
